We're Braniff.

We fly all 747s to the Far East.

The end of the plain plane.

The first airplane was invented in 1853, but it wasn't until the 1940s that the modern jet airplane was born. Today's jetliners are a far cry from the early biplanes, offering a smooth and comfortable ride. They're also a lot faster, making it possible to travel around the world in a matter of days. And the best part? They're also a lot more fun to fly on. With their sleek lines and powerful engines, they're a sight to behold. And the service is top-notch, too. With attentive flight attendants and delicious food, flying is a pleasure. So next time you're planning a trip, consider the end of the plain plane. It's here, and it's here to stay.

We better be better.

Braniff 747s are the most luxurious planes you'll ever fly, with leather seats throughout the entire interior. Their rich texture, in combination with soft-hued fabrics and walls, are designed to reduce boredom and fatigue.

The flight attendants' wardrobes, designed exclusively for Braniff by Halston, complement the mood of soft elegance.
